IN PLAIN WORDS

There are lots of ways to decide who gets something: paying a price, voting, contests, sharing, lotteries, or first-come-first-served.

READ EACH STORY. CIRCLE THE WORD FOR HOW IT WAS DECIDED

There's only one prize. Whoever runs across the yard the fastest wins it.

Contest Sharing Price

The class votes on which book to read together. Whichever book gets the most votes wins.

Vote Lottery Price

Six kids line up outside the ice cream truck. Whoever is first in line gets served first.

First in line Contest Sharing

You pay two dollars for a bag of chips at the store.

Price Lottery Sharing

Names go into a hat, and one name gets pulled out to win the raffle basket.

Lottery Vote Price

Two friends split one cookie so they each get half.
